

Dana Belstler is an Account Executive at Johnson Search Group, a division of Johnson Service Group. Her area of expertise is in the Mining, Heavy Industrial and Manufacturing industries, and she focuses on direct permanent placement of professionals in that arena. Dana and her team work closely with clients to identify their needs and match those needs with the most qualified of candidates. Our mining team is well versed in all aspects of the mining and heavy industrial industry, to include surface and subsurface mining, mechanical, electrical, maintenance, reliability, safety, and even information technology.

Dana and her team have successfully worked with a large cross section of US and International companies, ranging from local engineering firms to mid-size industrial outfits, to Fortune 500 companies. In working with Dana and JSG, you will be provided the opportunity to work with professionals who understand and can address your critical hiring needs. Effective recruiting means not only finding people with the right skills, but finding people who will be the right fit for each particular organization. It is an art and a science that requires seasoned judgement and leading-edge technology.

Engaging Dana's team is easy and scalable. Depending on the parameters of your search, you can utilize the mining team on a retained or engaged basis, or work out a contingent agreement. Rest assured, whichever way your company decides to go, Dana and her team will dedicate their highly personalized approach, time, and focused efforts to your organization.

Dana earned a degree in Sociology from San Jose City College, in San Jose, California. She has prior experience in the high-tech industry and more recently, the low voltage industry. Joining the JSG team was an easy decision and one that allows her to bring her years of work and life experience to help assist others with their personnel and career needs. She brings a high level of enthusiasm and energy to her work, and she fully dedicates herself to her search assignments. Outside of work, Dana continues her years of volunteer work and enjoying the great outdoors.

Founded in 1983, Johnson Service Group has grown into one of the most successful recruitment organizations in the world. In 2014, JSG was named by Staffing Industry Analysts to three of their prominent lists: Largest U.S. Staffing Firms, Fastest-Growing U.S. Staffing Firms, and Largest U.S. Engineering Staffing Firms. JSG offers a full range of staffing solutions including contract, permanent placement, and large-scale project solutions.
